Summary

The National Citizen Survey™ (The NCS™) is a collaborative effort between National Research Center, Inc. (NRC) and the International City/County Management Association (ICMA). The survey and its administration are standardized to assure high quality research methods and directly comparable results across The NCS communities. The NCS captures residents’ opinions within the three pillars of a community (Community Characteristics, Governance and Participation) across eight central facets of community (Safety, Mobility, Natural Environment, Built Environment, Economy, Recreation and Wellness, Education and Enrichment and Community Engagement). This report summarizes Lindsborg’s performance in the eight facets of community livability with the “General” rating as a summary of results from the overarching questions not shown within any of the eight facets. The “Overall” represents the community pillar in its entirety (the eight facets and general).

By summarizing resident ratings across the eight facets and three pillars of a livable community, a picture of Lindsborg’s community livability emerges. Below, the color of each community facet summarizes how residents rated each of the pillars that support it – Community Characteristics, Governance and Participation. When most ratings were higher than the benchmark, the color is the darkest shade; when most ratings were lower than the benchmark, the color is the lightest shade. A mix of ratings (higher and lower than the benchmark) results in a color between the extremes.

Lindsborg residents tended to give higher than average marks to general Community Characteristics as well as to Safety, Mobility, Natural Environment, Education and Enrichment and Community Engagement within this pillar. Services related to Education and Enrichment, as well as levels of Participation in the facets of Built Environment and Education and Enrichment, were higher than seen elsewhere. All other facets received ratings similar to those given in other communities across the nation and none were lower. Broadly, ratings about the community’s characteristics across most of the facets were stronger than were ratings of governance or citizen engagement. The dashboard information can be helpful in identifying the areas that merit more attention.
