Mosquito Control Season is coming!

Remember the four D's :

- Dusk/Dawn are the times that mosquitos are most active.
- DEET should be used in mosquito repellants.
- Dress in light colored , loose long-sleeve shirts and pants
- Drain any standing water on your property.

Storm Water

Stormwater is defined as rainfall, snow melt, surface runoff, and drainage. The purpose of stormwater management is to ensure that the items in this definition are the only items that enter the stormwater system; therefore, protecting the natural environment and waterways to which these systems flow. Keeping pollutants, contaminants, chemicals and debris out of the stormwater system is stormwater management and can only be achieved if we all work together. Why is this important? Stay tuned for more information in upcoming newsletters about how YOU can help.
