DC Stanley Photography

David C. Stanley, Owner

David (DC) Stanley has taken “Live Here, Work Here” to an unprecedented extreme—his home and business are in the same building, at the corner of Morningside and Willowick!

David moved from Pearland to Friendswood off of Castlewood Drive when he was in the first grade. His mom was an Fisd teacher and his dad worked in oil and gas. David graduated from Friendswood High School in 1996. While classmates went off to college, he was more interested in spending time in and around the ocean and jumping out of helicopters, so, he joined the US Navy.

“Fast forward eight years,” David says, “and a BS in Biological Sciences later, I started DC Stanley Photography to once again just go against the grain of normal work.”

DC Stanley Photography caters to large events such as weddings and corporate events both in the U.S. and internationally from San Miguel de Allende all the way to Greece. The “Live Here, Work Here” business is a mainstay for Friendswood, Dawson and Pearland high schools, with David as the Primary Photographer and his wife Voula, “V” for short, as the Studio Manager.

They both own the 7,000 square foot DC Stanley Photography and the Suites of Morningside—Friendswood’s first true mixed-use building.

“After eight years officing out of the Pecan Plaza center off of

Edgewood, I really love working and living with my family in the heart of Friendswood’s Downtown

District,” David said. “It has helped us achieve a goal of living and working in the same building in order to spend as much work down time with our family as possible.”

The DC Stanley Photography studio space was designed to provide contemporary photography looks, complete “in-studio” looks, and has a sprawling outdoor space that can be used year-round for native backgrounds. David is proud of “One of the coolest photography studio options in the area,” he said, which is a full underwater facility to be completed in Spring 2019.

And there’s room for more tenants. The mixed-use building on an almost one-acre lot is now complete. They have 1,400 square feet of office space that is move-in-ready. They will host an Open House in January.

DC Stanley Photography business hours are Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., but if you need to visit outside of those hours, just buzz the door. They live upstairs.
